

Chazak Chazak V'Nitchazek ~
Be strong, Be Strong, and Let Us Be Strengthened

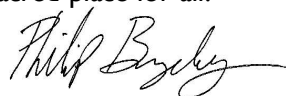

This year January 1st falls on a Friday and the Torah portion for the Shabbat of New Years is Parashat Va-y'chi, which is the final Torah Portion in the Book of Genesis. In this Torah portion we give a final farewell to Jacob and Jacob says goodbye to his family before dying. It is a bittersweet moment, but one that gives closure and brings together a fractured family.

Likewise, I believe that this New Year's probably felt the same to many of you. Many have posted on social media about how you couldn't wait to say goodbye to 2020. Many of you debated whether or not the year 2020 felt like a year, a decade, or a century. I don't think there are any of us that didn't struggle in some way during 2020. Sure, there were beautiful moments as well, but collectively many of us struggled (and continue in that struggling) to deal with a pandemic and an unpredictable society.

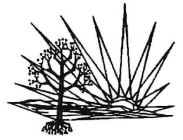

I hope that as we look back at 2020, just as Jacob looks back upon his life, we each will find that scattered amongst our year there were many blessings despite some measure of struggle. Being able to look back and find blessings amongst trying times is an important virtue because it's what gives us strength and helps us make meaning out of chaos.

Traditionally, as we finish one book of the Torah and begin another we say the phrase "Chazak, chazak, v'nitchazek" which means, "Be strong, be strong, and let us be strengthened." I think we should utter these words as 2020 comes to an end rather than the phrase many of you would probably rather choose, "good riddance."

I think we should say, "Chazak, chazak, v'nitchazek" because it's a way of affirming our hope and belief that we should only come out of 2020 stronger than when we went into it. It's also a way of finding the sacred in the mundane. We could either see this moment – the moment between 2020 and 2021 – as just another calendar change, or we could see it as a sacred moment where we invite the Divine in to help make this moment holy. We can make it holy when we take stock of the year that was and reach our hearts out in hope for the year that will unfold before us. Let us not say, "This year was worse than the last, I hope next year will be better." Instead let us say, "This year is over, let us work to make the next year better. When 2021 comes to an end let us make sure that more people have found justice and wholeness in their lives." May we all enter into this New Year stronger, wiser, and healthier than when we started the last and may we also come together to constantly strive to make this world a sacred place for all.

Keepers of Jewish Excellence
Rabbi Jeffrey Salkin
Why Is It Always About the Jews?
Sunday, January 10, 10:30am

Rabbi Jeffrey Salkin has a national and international reputation as one of America's most quoted rabbis and thought leaders. His words have been cited in The New York Times, The New Republic, and USA Today. He has appeared on many television and radio programs, and has spoken in more than a hundred communities, including in Israel, Great Britain, Cuba, and Poland. His colleagues describe him as "intellectually fearless;" "an activist for Jewish ideas;" "a public intellectual of the pulpit."

Nancy Sinkoff, Ph.D.
Monday, January 25, 7:30pm

An engaging and revelatory new biography is a necessary reminder of the Jewish historian's important place among 20th-century American intellectuals.

Nancy Sinkoff is the Academic Director of the Bildner Center for the Study of Jewish Life and Professor of Jewish Studies and History at Rutgers—New Brunswick. From 2014-2016 and 2017-2018, she served as the Director of the Center for European Studies at Rutgers. Dr. Sinkoff received her doctorate in modern Jewish history from Columbia University in 1996 after earning two master's degrees, one from Columbia in American History and one from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in Interdisciplinary Jewish Studies.

Lunch and Learn with Rabbi Miller

Important Lessons for Life from the Works of Rabbi Jonathan Sacks z"l

Wednesday, January 13 at 11:00am

Rabbi Lord Jonathan Sacks, former Chief Rabbi of the British Commonwealth, was a gifted and prolific writer and orator. His works were widely read and his ideas cherished by Jews and people of all faiths. Highly respected by Jewish, British, and world leaders, Rabbi Sacks was often consulted about contemporary issues and issues related to the meaning of life. Rabbi Miller will share with us lessons from Lord Sacks. Rabbi Sacks' recent death is a loss for people of all faiths. We will learn much from his ideas and writings.

COMMUNITY WIDE EVENT

Trauma & Resilience In Our Learners

HOSTED BY DR. BETSY STONE

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20TH | 7PM

Inviting all Religious School parents and Anshe Emeth community members to join our Clergy, Professional Staff and Religious School staff as we're joined by Dr. Betsy Stone of Hebrew Union College for a special training on trauma and resilience in our learners.

Dr. Betsy Stone writes: This has been a time of unrelenting crisis. Between COVID, the election, lockdowns and virtual schooling, isolation and grief, we have had 9 months of stress and discomfort. Join with AEMT friends and me to talk about what trauma is, and how it impacts our bodies and our brains. Think about what has been good in this time, and how to hold on to the strengths you've developed and relationships you've deepened.

Following Dr. Betsy Stone's community event on January 20th, we will begin a Religious School parent book club featuring the book, The Yes Brain by Daniel J. Siegel and Tina Payne Bryson. If you're interested in participating in this monthly book club, please reach out to Matthew Vogel, Director of Education & Engagement, at mvogel@aemt.info.

A “Stories in Music” Concert
Monday, February 1 at 7:30pm

We are thrilled to announce a special addition to the Stories of Music series on Monday evenings! Join us for a live performance by Classical and Ragtime Pianist, our very own Ellen Tenenbaum as she brings us an evening of music - from Rachmaninoff and Chopin to Scott Joplin - and their connections to the Jewish community on Monday, February 1 at 7:30pm.

“Stories of Music” series is brought to us by the Lowell Milken Fund for American Jewish Music at the UCLA Herb Alpert School of Music, the Milken Archive of Jewish Music, and the American Conference of Cantors, and explores the music of the American Jewish community and the stories it brings - including our own! Join us Monday evenings from 7:30 – 8:30pm via Zoom. The link is posted in our weekly email.

Youth Group News

From the AETY Board: Thank you very much to everyone who ordered food and swag, watched our demonstration and Havdalah video, and volunteered at our pizza (formerly pasta) dinner on December 5. The event was a huge success, and we hope you enjoyed your pizza!

Mini-Mitzvah Corps: Saturday, January 16
from 1:00-1:30pm

Come together over Zoom to make cards to brighten the day of those in need.

Midnight Run Zoom: Sunday, January 17
from 2:00-3:30pm

It is currently unsafe for us to come together in person, so during this session about the Midnight Run, we will be hearing from past participants, and learning from some special guests who are active in acts of tikkun olam in our community. We will also brainstorm possible action steps and activities for a hands-on social action project that we intend to work on in the spring.

CABARET NIGHT IS HERE!!!
Saturday, January 30 at 7:30pm

Here at Anshe Emeth, nothing can stop us, not even a pandemic! With that said, the performances this year will be virtual!

Who can perform? Anyone is eligible to perform in the show. No previous experience necessary on the Cabaret Night stage! There will be piano and band accompaniment, courtesy of our own Dave Schlossberg, Kevin Werbel and Mark Szachara. Gather up your courage and talents and do something fun!! To honor social distancing, we will be recording all performances on January 13th and 14th. If you are interested, or have further questions, please contact Cantor Stanton at cantor.stanton@aemt.info.

Let's make it a great night to remember!
